Kleinostheim, Germany – UTA Edenred, a leading mobility service provider in Europe and an Edenred company, has expanded its acceptance network in France by partnering with Intermarché and Netto, two subsidiaries of the French retail group Les Mousquetaires. Intermarché and Netto are key players in France's low-cost fuel retail market, with more than 1,600 service stations across the country. Through this partnership, UTA Edenred will significantly expand its acceptance network in France to a total of over 5,700 service stations by the end of 2023.

Lukas Schneider, Chief Strategic Partnerships Officer at UTA Edenred, said: "We're pleased to provide customers with access to France's largest low-cost outlets network. Intermarché and Netto are highly regarded and established brands. This partnership will considerably increase the number of service stations accepting the UTA Edenred solution, giving clients access to a total of 5,700 stations in France, including over 3,600 low-cost outlets, by the end of 2023. Access to low-cost fuel doesn't just mean cost savings for companies, it also makes daily life easier for drivers by giving them access to local retailers."

Jean-Marc Devaine, CEO of Intermarché Caveirac (30) in charge of Intermarché and Netto's Oil Department, adds: "This partnership is a great opportunity for us to reach a new clientele, and it will enable us to accelerate the growth of volumes sold by the Les Mousquetaires Group's service stations. The UTA Edenred solution will complement Intermarché's Pro fuel card and will enable us to serve national and international fleets."
